THIRTY-NINTH YEAR NO. 17

REFORESTATION KEY-NOTE OF ROTARY MEET HELD AT FIRE TOWER

Local Club Guests of H. Weston Lumber Company—State Forester Merrill and District Forester Kimball Among Speakers of Occasion.

Enjoying a hospitality that was as sincere as lavish, and served in a perfect setting of a spring day, members of Bay St. Louis Rotary Club held their regular weekly luncheon Wednesday at Madison Picnic Grounds near the fork in the Old Spanish Trail and Logtown road, says guests of the H. Weston Lumber Company, personally represented by John H. Weston, active vice president, and David R. Weston and C. Weston, as well as Clem W. Weston and Harold B. Weston.

The al fresco feast was held in the very shadow of the fire tower of the State Reformation department, and where a number of spreading oaks and stately pines of greatest verdure assembled in a setting that nature seemed to have conspired for the occasion.

Meats that had been barbecued all during the night hours, cooked thoroughly and to a point of tender substance and delicious flavor, were served in cafeteria style. There were other good things served along on the paper plate, and none of the least of these was the delicious potato salad, with lettuce and eggs that some genius mind and fingers of artistry had so intriguingly prepared to tickle the palate and help sharpen appetite rather than appease it.

In a large reservoir filled with ice, were many bottles of beer for those who wished, while an equal number of bottles of Coca-Cola was there for those who desired. Plenty to eat and much to drink, and how good! President C. C. McDonald, Rotary Club, had delegated the honors of the club for the occasion, to Harold B. Weston, a Rotarian and son of one of the hosts, and he presided in that happy felicitous manner which makes for him so many friends. At the conclusion of the feast he made a number of fitting remarks, and was followed by J. H. Weston, who said in brief form of the Weston Company and its operations in that section of Hancock county.

He said the father of the firm, H. Weston, came to that section some eighty years ago, a poor man, seeking work, and with the wonderful and native resources of the piney woods region, had planted the seed of a business that had carried on all these years.

He dwelt on the necessity of further preserving the resources of the piney woods and said that it could be done, by reforestation and protecting what was there. That by the present process, sponsored by the State, in fifteen or twenty years, millions of dollars of resources would be restored. He also voiced his appreciation of those who had been in the company's services so many years, and called the names of several present who had thirty-five years and more to their credit.

As guests of the occasion there were present F. B. Merrill, State Forester; K. E. Kimball, district forester, and also C. E. Beaumont, federal assistant.

Mr. Merrill delayed, Mr. Kimball spoke first and told of the incalculable advantages of forest protection from fires. He told of the vast resources of the piney woods, and that to let fires devastate forests meant lowered values and increased taxation for the other fellow. Land forfeited to the government because of delinquency carried none of the overhead of government.

Speaking briefly, but with emphasis, State Forester Merrill also told of the advantages of the work, what was being accomplished and what to hope for in the near future.

George R. Rea, before adjournment told a humorous story and its application in thanking the hosts was most fitting. C. C. McDonald, president Rotary, voiced the official thanks of the club to those responsible for so memorable an occasion, expressing sentiments well worthy of the occasion and telling in manner most fitting.

Guests Present

Noted among the guests present were F. B. Merrill, State Forester; K. E. Kimball, District Forester; Wiggins; C. E. Beaumont, federal forestry department; Jackson; Horatio Givens, county ranger for Hancock; L. E. Miller, smoke chaser; Willie Welsh, towerman; J. D. Jones, James Givens, Roy Baxter, T. V. Holleman, Sr., W. J. Fleming, Sr., W. J. Fleming, Jr., Supervisor John B. Weston, and representing the H. Weston Lumber Company were John H. Weston, Dave R. Weston and C. Weston. From Picaune, T. K. Bogan and Luke Bogan.

Visiting Fire Tower

Prior to serving the luncheon, by special dispensation of the department of forestry, many visited the hundred-foot steel tower from the top of which it is possible to look over into two counties. It is quite a climb to the unaccustomed, but nevertheless the many who ventured up experienced no undue fatigue or sensations. Bro. Peter ascended with a rapid stride all the way to the top, as did George R. Rea, Arthur A. Seafide, Hub Canby, Henry Osinich and

URGE POSTS REMOVAL FROM BAY

Beautification Plans Should Include Eliminating Old Posts From Bay

A number of additional letters have been received by the Bay St. Louis Chamber of Commerce in response to the letters requesting beach property holders to beautify their premises. A very fine suggestion comes from away urging that the old wharf posts which are found in many places along the shore and into the water be removed, not only because of the appearance but because of the dangerous condition of the posts which are covered when the tide is high. These posts formerly supported wharfs which have either been destroyed by winds or have rotted through old age leaving the stubs in the water.

With the approach of summer and the popularity of bathing it is urged that all on the beach remove the posts and thus make bathing even more enjoyable in the waters of the Bay.

MEMORIAL DAY TO BE OBSERVED BY BANKS SATURDAY

Confederate Memories Are Revived by Annual Observance of April 26

Confederate Memorial Day which annually is observed in Mississippi April 26th, is a state holiday and banks will be closed for the day.

Throughout the state various ceremonies will be held in recognition of the memory of those who wore the gray in the '60's and thoughts of their lives will be focused at this time, while graves and monuments are covered in flowers for the occasion.

FAMILY REUNION

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Green of South Beach Boulevard had a happy family reunion for Easter when all of their seven children, their daughter-in-law and three grandchildren were present. The gathering included: Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Green and three children of New Orleans. Justin Green of Jackson, John A. Green, Jr., of Houston, Texas, Marion Green of New Orleans, Misses Margaret and Genevieve Green and Frank L. Green of Bay St. Louis.

BAY LEGION OPENS RING SEASON BIG

Matchmaker Henry Egloff Has Fine Card and Promises Another In Near Future

Bay St. Louis Legion, always forward in clean sports, opened the summer season of ring bouts at the Bay St. Louis legion arena Monday night with a splendid crowd who witnessed a fine card, and Henry Egloff, matchmaker, announces another program for the immediate future, one that all fans will eagerly look for.

Patsy Boyle, of New Orleans, welterweight, won by a technical knockout over "Little Boy" Peterson, of Kiln in the eighth round of the main bout.

Boyle and Peterson fought a rough, rugged fight, plowing in toe to toe, but the Crescent City boxer had the best of the affair until Pete's second round in the eighth. Three knockdowns featured the bout, and each time it was the Kiln battler that hit the canvas. On all three trips down, Peterson, took the count of nine. In the fifth, the bell saved Peterson from a knockout. Peterson weighed 147 and Boyle 146.

In the semi-final bout Bobby May, a local fighter, won the decision over Young Watkins, Pascagoula, in six rounds. The battle was close and was another rugged scrap. Young Bell, Pass Christian, won a technical knockout over Young Garriaga, Fenton, in the opening fight of the card. The bout ended at the start of the third of a four-round bill.

The legion bouts every two weeks will prove an attraction for the summer in Bay St. Louis, as in former years, and The Sea Coast Echo, notes the return of clean sports, as fostered by the Legion, with more than ordinary satisfaction. Our visitors throughout the season, especially those from New Orleans, seek entertainment and attraction, and the legion cards will help in no small measure to fill this long-felt want.

The Echo would ask a liberal patronage for the local boys of the Legion. They are making a strong effort in their aim and well worthy of all support possible.

BRO. PETER TO HEAD BAY ROTES

Elected With C. W. Weston As Vice President By Bay St. Louis Rotarians.

Bro. Peter, president of St. Stanislaus College, a leading citizen and one of the best known educators of the city, was elected head of the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club, beginning with July 1st, and will head the club's program of economic and industrial depression, giving employment to men now unemployed, and releasing money in local channels of trade.

Increased Traffic's Demand

Increasing traffic on the Gulf Coast boulevard, mainly from New Orleans and Mobile, with promise of still greater congestion of the single narrow roadway after completion of the remaining links of paved highway in the direct New Orleans to Coast line, was pointed out as another reason for early building of the new road.

The Smith plan would provide a two-way highway system from the Bay of St. Louis to the eastern end of Biloxi, approximately twenty-five miles long, and costing about $1,000,000.

To the above it may be added the building of the Bay-Waveland double boulevard along the beach front may be underwritten in a similar way, provisions of the Stansel bill, which carries a total State appropriation of $86,000,000.

REGISTRATION OF COUNTY VOTERS AT BAY THURSDAY

A. G. Favre, County Clerk, Has Visited Voting Precincts Past Two Weeks

The county clerk, A. G. Favre, has been engaged in visiting the various voting precincts of the county for the past two weeks for the purpose of registering voters. This work will be concluded with the registration at the court house at Bay St. Louis May 1, and all who have not already registered are asked to take advantage of this final day to register according to the new registration ordered for the county.

Mr. Favre's schedule has included the following: Ansley at Mulatto Bayou school, April 14; Pearlinton at Beyer's Store, morning of 15th and Logtown at Weston's Store afternoon of 15th; Gainesville at old Carver Store, 16th; Gravel Pit at Gravel Company's office, 17th; Aaron Academy at school, 18th; Flat Top at school, 21st; Caesar at Leetown school, 22nd; Crane Creek at A. E. Shaw's store, 23rd; Standard at Alex Ladner's store, 24th; Fenton at Geo. Cuevas' store, 25th; Kiln at drug store, 28th; Waveland at town hall, 29th; Lakeshore at Dan Ladner's store, 30th.

This visit to the different sections of the county was made by the clerk as an aid to the voters to register without having to drive the distance to Bay St. Louis to register.

TO DOUBLE BOULEVARD ON COAST

Pass Christian Rotary Club Fires First Gun for Doubling Paving Beach Boulevard

Construction of an additional highway along the gulf coast of Harrison county, paralleling the present roadway and abutting the 24-mile concrete seawall, was recommended Tuesday to the Pass Christian Rotary Club by George R. Smith, attorney of Pass Christian and Gulfport, also a member, who urged the organization to start a county-wide movement for the proposed project.

Permanent County Organization

A press report says the Rotarians unanimously favoring the doubling of the highway, will meet to confer with other Harrison county organizations in an effort to form an active county committee. Members of the Pass Christian committee were named as George R. Smith, chairman; L. H. Barksdale, E. A. Lang and Bernard Knodle.

Under the Stansel Bill

The new road would be constructed under provisions of the Stansel highway bill, passed by the current session of the Mississippi Legislature, according to the Smith plan.

Urges Immediate Action

Mr. Smith urged that committee action be carried forward without delay, so that road construction, provided the measure was adopted by the State Highway Commission, could be started during the present period of economic and industrial depression, giving employment to men now unemployed, and releasing money in local channels of trade.

Increased Traffic's Demand

Increasing traffic on the Gulf Coast boulevard, mainly from New Orleans and Mobile, with promise of still greater congestion of the single narrow roadway after completion of the remaining links of paved highway in the direct New Orleans to Coast line, was pointed out as another reason for early building of the new road.

SHORT ROUTE ROAD INCLUDED IN BILL IN STATE SENATE

Short Cut Road from New Orleans to Coast Approved in Immediate Work

A news dispatch under date of April 22 from Jackson, Miss., carries the following information: The Senate passed the Foote bill, adding the so-called "short-line" between Bay St. Louis and the Rigolans and Chef Menteur into New Orleans by way of Waveland to the state highway system and placing the Mississippi link on the primary system for immediate hard-surfacing at the discretion of the State Highway Commission.

The "short line" would cut off 15 miles between the Mississippi coast and New Orleans and would traverse free bridges, declared Senator Geo. Foote of Gulfport, who introduced the bill yesterday, obtained its immediate consideration in committee of the whole and then obtained its passage, all within the space of two hours.

Walter J. Gex, Sr., of Bay St. Louis, member of the special committee appointed by Governor R. Rea, chairman, to work toward the securing of help toward this short route road, spent the first of the week in

Up to now the changes made by the code commissioners in the primary election law have not been acted on by the legislature, notwithstanding there is an almost unanimous demand upon the part of all Mississippians that the recommendations suggested by the code commission be adopted, and more especially those sections with regard to absentee voting. No statute ever written into the laws of the State has ever been so abused and violated as that pertaining to absentee balloting and it is to be hoped the lawmakers will not adjourn until they have adopted the suggestions or recommendations of the able code commission composed of Messrs. Stevens, Griffith and Crum.

ONLY PUREST MOONSHINE.

The number of folks, never suspected of imbibing intoxicants of any sort or description, who have lost use of their lower limbs through secretly drinking "Jake" is alarmingly large. Strange as it may seem, there has been no paralysis reported in our immediate section, due doubtless to the fact that our bootleggers supply their customers—(known "liquor heads" as well as professed "drys"—with pure moonshine stuff.

ONLY ONE INSTEAD OF TWO

There is talk of a merger of Sears, Roebuck & Co., and Montgomery Ward, the world's two greatest mail order concerns. Together the two firms' annual sales amount to over a billion dollars. The big objection some folks will urge against the merger is that they will receive only one mammoth catalogue where heretofore they got two.

WE DON'T BELIEVE IT

And now the "dry" are charging that the Literary Digest's straw vote on prohibition is crooked. In other words that the ballots are going to people who are known to favor repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. We don't believe any such thing.

A DAY THAT IS PASSED

Governor Huey Long of Louisiana has been denounced as "a liar and a raving maniac" by his lieutenant-governor. There was a time in this Southern country when such denunciation would have meant a meeting on "the field of honor," but unhappily that day is past.

"Sunday movies"—to have or not to have 'em—has gotten the folks of Natchez divided into two hostile groups and they have gone into court to settle the question once for all.

At the present time it looks doubtful that Judge John J. Parker of North Carolina, recently nominated by President Hoover to fill a vacancy in the United States supreme court, will not be confirmed by the senate, due to protests filed by labor organizations and the National Association for the Advancement of the Colored People.

The Echo has serious doubt about any appreciable number of our Mississippi lawmakers will have reason to be proud of the fact that they were members of the 1930 session of the legislature. On the other hand most of them should be ashamed that they had any part in the farce which has been going on at Jackson for the past several months.

More than three hundred convicts in the State penitentiary at Columbus, Ohio, were suffocated during a fire in that institution Monday night. The blaze was started by desperate criminals in several different places at the same time, and it required the combined efforts of regular army troops, national guardsmen, prison guards and city police to maintain order among more than 1000 convicts who were loose in the prison yards before the fire was brought under control.

Fifty individuals and ten firms in different sections of the country have been indicted by a federal grand jury at Covington, Kentucky, for the alleged sale of Jamaica ginger that resulted in three hundred paralysis cases among persons who used it as a beverage. Now if juries are found that will convict the indicted parties may be an end will be put to a business that has brought misery to countless victims whose thirst for strong drink made them foolish enough to imbibe the concoction.

Every day comes an announcement of candidates who will be in the race for memberships in the highway commission, some of the aspirants being men who were never heard of before outside of the communities in which they reside. Are the claims of such men worthy of consideration and should they be entrusted with the expenditure of the $88,900,000 which will be handled in the next few years by the highway commission. The Echo believes that the commission to be chosen by the voters should be men of recognized business ability—men who do not seek the job because of the salary it pays, but men willing to sacrifice their time and neglect their own personal affairs to serve the state.

CROP DIVERSIFICATION

Mississippi farmers in the past have been wedded to the idea of attaining success in the growing of cotton, and their financial condition today is no better than it was years ago. Of course there are some few exceptions, but they are rare indeed. However they are at last, beginning to realize "the error of their way," and more and more of them are growing diversified crops.

As time goes on every farm and field will be yielding those crops which will provide food and sustenance for both man and beast,—and it will no longer be necessary to send out of the State for corn, hay, flour, meat, and the thousands of other products which have in the past been shipped into Mississippi in carload lots every year.

With soil and climate not surpassed by any other section of the Union, there is no reason why Mississippi should not rank as the greatest and most prosperous of all States in the matter of agricultural productivity.

In this connection we reproduce the following editorial from the Hattiesburg American which tells of the awakening interest among the people on the subject of crop diversification:

"Such is the merit of the claims of diversification and the grow-or-own food program, that not all the investigations, nor squabbles over road and revenue programs could smother these two questions at the capitol in Jackson.

"Not only have numerous representatives expressed themselves as individuals, but legislative attention has been called to certain phases of the program for broadening Mississippi's agricultural schedule and the achievement of a greater independence in providing for our own needs.

"Prominent among the proposals made along this line is that the farmers of Mississippi return to the practice of farmers before the Civil War in the matter of raising wheat. It is pointed out that twenty million dollars are spent annually for flour and the by-products which come from its mills. Emphasis is placed upon the fact that wheat can be grown here most successfully, especially on the prairie lands of northeast Mississippi.

"Support for the diversified farm program flows in from new quarters every day. Eventually the streams will unite into a universal movement within the state to make Mississippi the equal of any other in its agricultural prosperity toward which economic classification has only begun to progress."

UNFIT TO SERVE AS PRINCIPAL.

Kicked out of his job as superintendent of Mississippi Baptist Orphanage and facing trial in the circuit court of Hinds county on the charge of cruel and inhuman treatment of girl inmates of that institution, W. E. Thompson has been elected principal of a North Mississippi agricultural high school.

The Jackson Daily News has the following comment to make in this connection:

If the Mississippi Educational Association, now in session here, fails to adopt a resolution of protest, it will be derelict in its duty.

The evidence was conclusive that Thompson was mentally, temperamentally, and in many other respects, unfit to manage the Mississippi Baptist Orphanage.

It follows, as a logical process of reasoning, that he is equally unfit to serve as principal of an agricultural high school.

No man facing a criminal charge in the courts of this commonwealth is entitled to a position of responsibility in the state's educational system, nor can he command the respect of a student while occupying such a position.

What influence brought about his election to such a responsible position is a subject for amazing conjecture.

But, regardless of how it was brought about, the school teachers owe it to themselves, to the dignity of their profession, to the common welfare, and to the cause of education, to protest in no uncertain terms against placing W. E. Thompson at the head of the Itawamba county high school.

THE CAUSE OF CRIME

Everybody who gives any thought to the matter wonders why so much crime is committed in this country. We believe Grove Patterson, the well-known and level headed special writer, has summed up the whole question in the following lines:

"What are the principal causes of crime in the United States? Let us write down four reasons: the over-valuation of money on the part of the average human; the delay in the courts and the likelihood that the criminal will be quickly punished (a situation quite different from that in England or Canada); poverty, brought on by over-production and faulty distribution, and finally, the failure of the attempted enforcement of prohibition."

EXPENSIVE AND USELESS ADVERTISING.

The Echo doubts if any good results accrue from the advertising seen tacked on trees, telephone poles and signboards along the public highways and roads. On the other hand we think it is about the most expensive sort of advertising, and it seems to us that the manufacturers of the articles to which publicity is given would realize that fact.

FOR OIL AT JACKSON

Drilling for oil and gas around Jackson is going on with undiminished vigor, notwithstanding the abandonment of several wells which have proven "dusters." The fact that the big, nationally known oil corporations are still interested in the search for the precious fluid in that section of the state is maintained that sooner or later a big find will be made.

1930 TOUR OF K. M. B. TRAIN TO BE THE BEST EVER SAYS MURPHREE

People Already Writing to Know Mississippi Better—Unusually Good Schedule

A free-for-all snowballing in the middle of August may be one of the novelties awaiting those aboard the 1930 Know Mississippi Better Train, according to announcement by Ex-Governor Dennis Murphree, general chairman, in a preliminary report of arrangements as effecting both the entertainment of the Mississippians and the widespread distribution of the true story of Mississippi through the Middle West, the Far West, and a considerable portion of Canada.

Hundreds of letters have been received from clergymen, mayors, presidents of Rotary, Kiwanis, Exchange and other clubs, heads of businesses and prominent women's organizations in the various cities to be visited by the train this summer, according to Mr. Murphree, conveying promises of elaborate entertainment for the Mississippi party.

At Bellingham, Wash., a former Mississippian, Mr. L. K. Purcell, writes that arrangements have been perfected to take the Mississippi party in automobiles on a 60-mile trip through the section to the top of Mt. Baker. At Mt. Baker Lodge an elaborate banquet will be given the Mississippi delegation. Mr. Purcell says that members of the party will be able to walk outside the Lodge and pick up handfuls of snow on the occasion of the visit in August.

Citizens of Eau Claire, Wis., tell of arrangements for a magnificent dinner to the Mississippi delegation; and the Dalles folks desire to meet the train quite a number of miles before it reaches the Dalles, take the party in automobiles along the Columbia river highway, and put them on the train again at Hood River, Oregon. Following publication of the proposed visit in Milwaukee newspapers, letters are already being received from people scattered about over the state," states Mr. Murphree, "asking for the date of the visit of the train and stating that they expect to come to see it."

"The Know Mississippi Better Train will include 200 Mississippi Boosters and two exhibition coaches displaying the products of Mississippi agriculture, industry, educational and health facilities, will tour twelve of the United States and four Canadian Provinces. The personnel of the party is almost complete and it would be wise for all who contemplate being aboard to make reservations at the earliest moment."

'SURELY, THIS IS HELL!'

The merchant after a busy day watching the crowds pass by his store on their way to the postoffice to mail orders to merchants in other states, went slowly home and laid his weary head upon his pillow. He resigned his soul to unconsciousness, and slept.

Visions came before him. He was confronted by a host of government inspectors and agents. He became so busy licking stamps and filling out reports his troubled body tossed and tumbled upon his bed.

He saw the tax rate upon tobacco raised three times, and still the legislators afraid to increase an ad valorem tax were unsatisfied. Like demons looking for a soul to torment, they applied a tax upon soda-water, coca-cola, near beer, fruit juices, ice cream, bottled drinks, fountain drinks, candy playing cards, cut glass, sporting goods, fishing reels, shot gun shells, stockings, shoes and everything else. Still came the din and cry that revenues were far from their anticipated yield, and that other things must be included and the tax increased.

Mail order houses and merchants in other states were in high glee. The parcel postman of such merchandise ordered tax-free from outside states. Home money wended its way to distant points to escape the tax at home.

The sleeping merchant mumbled in his sleep, "Surely, this is Hell!" But he was wrong. It was simply Mississippi after the sales tax had been passed.—Greenwood Commonwealth.

"Newspapers of the nation play almost as important part in the life of the country as the government itself," says Governor Louis Emmerson of Illinois. "One of the chief functions of a newspaper is to form a check on government. I would stress the responsibility of the press to fight unceasingly against that which is bad in government and against encroachments on public rights. The public interest demands that newspapers be kept clean, that their editors be fearless. The responsibility of newspapers toward government consists chiefly in assisting government and its administrators in any effort to advance the general welfare and in remaining constantly on the watch against encroachments of public rights."

AT FIRST SIGHT

The lady orator, a tall and angular female, was holding forth on the equality of the sexes and the rights of woman.

"Made from a rib?" she cried. "It is a sacred device by wicked men. Now, do I look as if I had been made from a rib? Do I? Can anybody say that I was? What kind of a rib was I made of? I paused for a reply, if there be one."

Here a small, unimportant-looking man arose and bowed, and said gently:

"Yes, I think you was made from a rib."

"You do?" she retorted, shaking a lean finger in his direction. "You do? You are another of the men who wish to claim credit for everything, are you? And so you think I was made from the rib of a man?"

"No'm," was the solemn answer; "from the rib of an umbrella."

MAJOR BUDDECKE HURLS LANCE FOR SMART SET

Knight of Beau Monde Celebrates 12 years as Publisher

By MEISS O. FROST in N. O. States.

The Old Guard dies, story tells us, but never surrenders. New Orleans has an officer of the Old Guard who neither will surrender nor die. Clad in impeccable evening clothes, complete with white tie, white waistcoat, white kid gloves, tailcoat and high silk hat, Major Joseph T. Buddecke stands today in New Orleans as Horatius once stood in Rome—defending the Bridge before the onrush of the unconventional hordes of any modern Lars Porsena who raises the battle-cry that Society and the Beau Monde is the bunk. Or, if you wish to shift the simile from Rome to London, Major Buddecke has won the title of Defender of the Faith like the Kings of England—Defender of the Faith in Aristocracy.

This month of April, 1930, marks the twelfth successful anniversary of Major Buddecke's magazine. When you come to analyze it, you discover that Major Buddecke is the only surviving and, therefore successful, magazine publisher in the South. His publication, Society-Talk and Side-Lights of the Stage, published monthly in the major's main office at 610 Bienville street, New Orleans, is the only Southern magazine that has weathered the vicissitudes of twelve stormy years in which the encroaching informality of modern life has made its inroads on the charming and delightful formality of the Old Regime.

Challenge to the Fable

Major Buddecke speaks out like a man about it. There is no shadow of doubt or waver on which side of the fence he stands. Like the late Marse Henry Watterson of Louisville, Ky., sir, Major Buddecke is the exponent of individuality, journalism.

List to the challenge Major Buddecke hurls at an unconventional world in his Twelfth Anniversary issue.

Society-Talk enters into its twelfth consecutive year of successful publication with the fundamental principles of serving the Social Families of the South with a periodical whose columns are dedicated to uphold and preserve the traditions of Aristocracy, unchanged from the beginning. Our policies, as void of bigotry as we are unafraid of publishing Truth, having met with the approval of the social leaders of the leading social city of the South, New Orleans, are the solid foundation on which we stand. Our success conclusively proves this statement and stands out as our best testimony. The result of conscientious endeavor and recognized fairness constitutes a magazine serving the social activities of The Smart Set, giving attention to Artistic Talent and the Bohemian Side of Life, with acknowledged leadership in the field we have undertaken to serve.

There rings the battle-cry of a man you might call the Defender of the Full Dress Suit and all for which it stands. The Chronicle and Knight of the Beau Monde.

Now many there be who hold for the cult of shirt-sleeves and honest sweat. They prefer gin and red likker to Burgundy and champagne. They prefer eating tobacco in black plugs to a fragrant Turkish or Egyptian cigarette. They prefer corned beef and cabbage to caviar and filet mignon. To them man's nether garments are a pair of pants, and not tasteful trousers requiring the presser's iron.

To these Major Buddecke waves a gracious hail and farewell. He lets them go their way and pursue their interests. All he asks in return is that they accord him the same privilege. If they wish to wear overalls and a sweater at night, that is all right with the major. But if he wishes to don dress clothes as the clock points to 6 p. m., that, he deems, is his affair.

The Beau Monde is the world in which Major Buddecke moves.

"Our news items serve a select class of people," he writes in his Twelfth Anniversary Edition. "Our policy of printing only news of interest to the social world will continue."

Born to the Purple

Major Buddecke was born into that Social World. He is the son of Joseph T. Buddecke, one of the first bankers of New Orleans, and of Virginia Capreville, his wife. Miss Capdeville was the sister of the late Paul Capdeville, distinguished mayor of New Orleans in an earlier era.

From the days of his first long trousers, Major Joseph T. Buddecke was a distinguished figure in New Orleans society. His charm of manner, his interest in the affairs of the Beau Monde, his ancestral gallantry, made him a treasured guest of hostesses in the most exclusive homes.

In New Orleans' Carnival activities, he shone. There were those who said a Carnival parade that would refuse to roll until it was certain Major Buddecke was aboard. There is more truth than imagination in that. Just as for years no murder trial could get away to a proper start until Dorothy Dix of New Orleans entered the courtroom for years no Carnival parade or Carnival ball of any consequence was set to roll until Major Buddecke's eared on the scene. He knew the social novelties. The High C ambled in of Buckingham Palace knew them no more accurately or intimately.

Founded Mystic Club. Possibly one of the greatest social monuments to Major Buddecke is the brilliant annual Carnival Ball of the Mystic Club. He was its founder. His swift instinctive social sense grasped the fact that the debutante was the heroine and the leading lady of Carnival—that beautiful and charming young matrons with their marriages automatically took a back seat in Carnival festivities. So Major Buddecke founded the Mystic Club that the matrons of New Orleans might have their own Carnival ball in which they reigned and the youthful debutants were their guests.

Bell Telephone Company Installs Repeater Station at Gulfport Exchange.

Work of installing the repeater station at the Southern Bell Telephone Company's exchange at Gulfport, which began the latter part of last year, was completed this week according to press advice from Gulfport, and H. T. Cox, foreman of the installation, and the men assisting him, left for their homes in Birmingham Saturday.

The cost of the addition which houses the apparatus and the apparatus itself was about $50,000. The necessary storage batteries and other step-up equipment, cost approximately $19,000, this being in the $50,000 outlay.

The necessary additional voltage is now available at Gulfport to make it possible to talk by phone and hear distinctly in Great Britain, Germany, Denmark, France, Spain, Holland and practically all of the South American countries. Service is already being rendered at Gulfport for foreign countries.

The new addition which becomes the step-up equipment is practically fire-proof and is in keeping with the main building which was constructed by the Southern Bell Telephone Company three years ago, which with the under-ground conduits, cost about $90,000.

The new repeater station does not serve only Gulfport but is available for telephone service not only from this section but from other sections. Any Coast community may now hold conversation with any of the countries named above. Mr. Fishburn, Gulfport manager, said.

I. C. TO PUT ON SUMMER RATES TO MISSISSIPPI COAST

Gulf breezes making the climate very desirable during the summer months.

It was a stroke of social genius. It was a success from the start.

Major Buddecke, though now a dignified publisher, looks back to years of active newspaper work in New York and New Orleans. For years he was a musical critic of distinction. Music and the legitimate stage are the two passions of his life outside of Society, and they are, of course, a part of the Beau Monde in which he moves and which he chronicles.

His son, George Edward Buddecke, is following in his father's foot-steps as a newspaper man.

CONCRETE PLANS FOR PEARL RIVER ROAD ABANDONED

Proposal Dropped Because Of Aim to Select More Direct Route

Because the Louisiana Highway Commission expects to select and construct a more direct route between the Rigolets bridge and a point near Pearl River and Logtown, plans for paving the Pearl River road with concrete have been abandoned. This announcement says the N. O. Times-Picayune, Wednesday.

In a report to the board, State Highway Engineer Harry B. Henderson asserted "it is a practical certainty that a more direct route will be selected and constructed between the Rigolets bridge and a point on the Mississippi state line."

It was pointed out by the board, however, that work will begin in two weeks on a temporary surfacing of the highway from Pearl River, St. Tammany Parish, to the west end of East Pearl River bridge, a distance of 4.2 miles and will cost $17,942.74. The contract calls for the construction of a metallic base and triplicate surface treatment.

Spectacular Technicolor Revues in "Lord Byron Of Broadway."

"Lord Byron of Broadway" Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer all-talking, comedy with music and Technicolor adapted from the novel by Nell Martin, will be at the A. & G. Theater, Sunday and Monday.

Inasmuch as the story centers about a song writer who later becomes a vaudeville matinee idol, the musical numbers play an important part in the production. That the songs are of a hit caliber is indicated by the fact that they were written by Nacio Herb Brown and Arthur Freed, composers of the popular "Singin' in the Rain," "Wedding of the Painted Doll" and other first-rate melodies. Success of the musical attractions of the picture is further assured by the fact that this end of the production was supervised by Harry Beaumont, director of the long-run "Broadway Melody" first musical comedy of the screen. William Nigh, known for his many Lon Chaney productions, co-directed the picture, dealing with a narrative, plot and characterizations.

As a final attraction, "Lord Byron" contains a number of dance ensembles created by Sammy Lee, former Ziegfeld dance director, which were filmed in Technicolor and which employ a large Albertina Rasch ballet corps.

Miss Terry, whose voice is considered to be one of the finest on the New York musical stage, will sing a lilting tune entitled "Should I?" and also "The Woman in the Shoe," a song adapted from the old nursery rhyme and around which is built one of the spectacular Technicolor sequences. Kaley has a solo called "Only Love Is Real" and also sings a sentimental ballad with Cliff Edwards called "A Bundle of Old Love Letters." An interesting item of the picture is the fact that it contains the song which first brought Edwards into the limelight, namely, "A Japanese Sandman," with which he "stopped the show" at New York's Riverside Theater a few years ago.

HOOVERS SELDOM DINE ALONE, BUT FOR-MAL AFFAIRS ARE RARE

By SUE McNAMARA

Mrs. Herbert Hoover, at the end of her first year as first lady of the land, has become noted for informal entertaining.

Never have there been so many small groups bidden to the White House.

There has been scarcely a day that the Hoovers have dined alone. There are usually guests for either luncheon or dinner. Informal Sunday night suppers with small groups of congenial friends have been a part of their hospitality also.

Mrs. Hoover has a reputation for cordiality and for doing things in a "different" way. She puts a personal touch into her informal entertaining. She delights women guests by giving them flowers from the White House tables.

She gives special attention to musicians and others who have entertained her, sending notes of appreciation and having them personally presented.

Last Christmas Allan Hoover suddenly decided he wanted to give a party. Mrs. Hoover promptly arranged it for the next night. Precedent gives way to expediency in the Hoover's social program.

Thus delighted debts received telephone invitations to the White House—something that rarely occurs. But formal White House entertainments have suffered an eclipse.

The president and Mrs. Hoover had originally planned more formal state receptions than have marked previous White House social calendars, but events have prevented carrying out the programs.

Visitors Liberal With Their Patronage

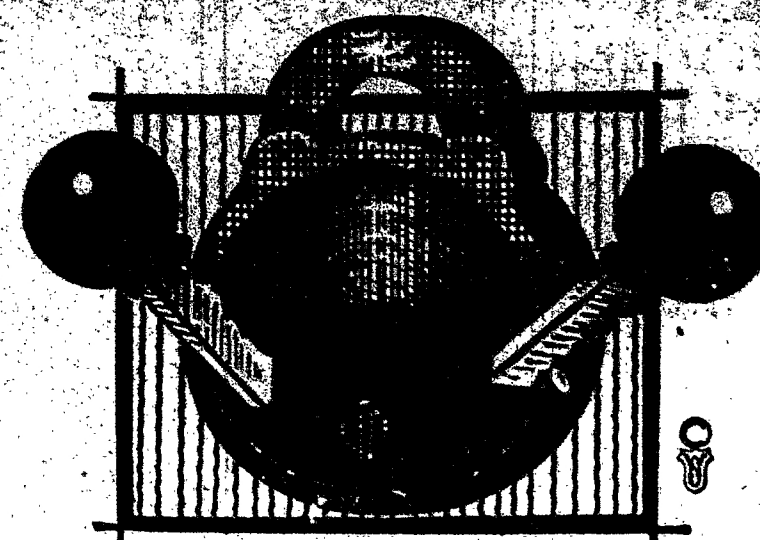

There is no way of accurately estimating the Easter Week-end crowd of students that flocked to Bay St. Louis and Waveland this season. However, one element of accuracy is certain, the number was many times that of former years. Thousands of young students flocked to this section of the Mississippi Coast strand and enjoyed every moment possible in every recreational pastime afforded here. Streams of pedestrians and automobiles in endless line unceasingly paraded the beach drive and sidewalks day and night. The students were out for a good time and left well satisfied of their quest.

Shops, stores and every branch of business received a most liberal share of patronage. Cash was seemingly plentiful and spent with the same prodigious measure, receiving full value in every instance.

The last of the vast number left by Monday and that evening the town looked like Goldsmith's deserted village. Come again, boys and girls. We were glad to have you come and sorry to see you go. Next year may your numbers be again augmented.

Mr. R. C. KING Tells a Wonderful Story About Rats...Read It.

The Foreman

A gang of men were working on street repairs in front of a woman's house. She seemed quite interested in them and asked one of them, a big burly Celt, "Which is the foreman?"

"O' am, mum," he replied, proudly.

"O' kin prove it, mum," rejoined the Irishman. Then, turning to a laborer at hand, he added—"Kelly, y're fired!"—American Mutual Magazine.

GULFPORT TAKES GAME FROM BEES WITH SCORE 8-7

Close Game Was Played at St. Stanislaus Stadium Diamond Sunday

By Wm. D. Hays, Jr.

The Bay St. Louis Bees gave the league-leading Gulfport Tarpons a close call Sunday, holding them to an 8-7 decision in a hard-fought game at St. Stanislaus stadium. The Bees jumped off to a one-run lead in the first inning, but Gulfport scored two runs in the third period, and pushed at least one man across the plate in every inning after that except the eighth.

Bay St. Louis showed a disdain for facts when in the seventh inning they disregarded Gulfport's six-run lead and suddenly decided to win the game. With three men on, Caspich started things for the Bees by smashing a triple somewhere out in center field, and came in himself a moment later on Collier's single. The Bees now had the thought of victory in their minds, and returned to bat in the following stanza with the heavy end of the batting order up. After Perre, first man up, had flown out to right field, Ladner reached second on Finley's single, and crossed the plate when Maurigi doubled. Before the next man came to bat, Maurigi stole third, and dashed home with the tying run when Taylor missed a wild throw at the "hot corner." Boudin and Blaize ended the rally by grounding out at first.

Gulfport came back in the ninth and placed a man on base when Maurigi muffed a fly, and won the game when Ladner threw the ball over Perre's head at first.

Cotton Collier hurled the whole game for Bay St. Louis, while Gulfport used three pitchers, Chapin, Finley, and Conn to win the game. The Bees will meet Biloxi next week, playing at St. Stanislaus diamond unless the College arranges a game for Sunday.

BAY TRACK TEAMS FOR REGION RUNS

By Wm. D. Hays, Jr.

The Bay High track squad will enter the Gulf Coast Regional track and field meet Saturday at Biloxi with one spiker definitely out, and with another's appearance doubtful. Richard Koch, regular in the high jump and relay events, will not be able to enter the meet due to illness, and Gasper Maurigi, who is slated for the running broad jump, has been unable to practice for two weeks, but hopes to have a weak ankle around by Saturday.

With these certain and possible absences, the brunt of the work in the field will fall on four men: Frank Beeson, in the mile run, Nolan Ladner, in the 100 yard dash, Earl Raymond, in the 880 yard, and Argle Mitchell, in the discus throw.

Sympathy

It was the first real snowstorm of the year and the teacher felt it her duty to warn her pupils before she dismissed them. "Boys and girls should be very careful to avoid colds at this time of year," she began solemnly. "I had a darling little brother only seven years old. One day he went out in the snow with his new sled and caught cold. Pneumonia set in and in three days he was dead." The schoolroom was quiet. Then a youngster in the back row asked: "Where's his sled?"

Explaining It

Tung Oil Tree Planted

Industry Develops Rapidly Along the Gulf Coast

George Leavenworth, Biloxian, has planted over 1,000 Chinese Tung oil trees and will plant between 2,000 and 3,000 more next year. This development promises returns in furnishing a fluid used by paint manufacturers. Upon an acreage, north of Pascagoula, the Southern China-Wood Oil Company, Waukesha, Wis., has planted 325 acres. For further development they anticipate setting out 15,000 trees in 1930.

NOT IN THE PARTY

In a speech of the Senate yesterday Senator Hefflin demanded that John J. Raskob resign as chairman of the Democratic national executive committee.

Since Mr. Hefflin is no longer a Democrat—never was, for that matter—by what right does he demand the resignation of the head of the party organization?

Over in Alabama the Democratic state executive committee has refused to permit Hefflin's name to appear on the party ballot this year, and he is running for re-election as an independent.

Therefore, his demand for Raskob's resignation is both impudent and asinine—just another bray from a loud-mouthed jackass.—Jackson News.

Back Quit Hurting

"I was in a very weak condition from a serious sickness," writes Mrs. L. Leonard, 571 Joseph St., New Orleans, La. "I was so weak I wanted to sleep all the time, did not have strength to do anything. My back ached nearly all the time. I was just in misery. My mother told me I must arouse myself from the sleepiness and take something to help get my strength back. She had taken Cardui and had been helped, so I decided to take Cardui too. After my first bottle I could get up, and after the second bottle I could go to work. My strength came back and I gained weight. Pretty soon I was my old self again. My back quit hurting and I haven't had any more trouble since I took Cardui."

A CREED WORTH STUDYING

To live as lofty as I can, to be no matter where—a man, to take what comes of good or ill, to cling to faith and honor still, to do my best and let that stand—the record of my brain and hand; and then should failure come to me, still work and hope for victory; to have no sacred place wherein—to stoop unseen to shame or sin; to be the same when I'm alone as when my every deed is known; to live undaunted, unafraid, of any setback or shame—exactly what men think I am.—The originator of this creed is unknown.

We read in one of our exchanges that a student at medical college was asked by his professor: "What would you do in the case of a person eating poisonous mushrooms?" Without a moment's hesitation the young man replied: "I would recommend a change of diet." That chap is certainly entitled to his diploma according to the way we look at it.

SHORT CUT HIGHWAY BETWEEN N. O. AND COAST RECEIVES NEW IMPETUS

Meeting of Representatives of Two States Brings Project Nearer Realization—Governor Long Has Personal Representatives—Meeting Held Under Auspices Bay St. Louis Chamber of Commerce.

Impelling the movement with forceful acceleration, the meeting of the Louisiana-Mississippi representatives for the short cut highway between New Orleans and this section, held last Thursday, gave manifestation of evidence that both sides were ready to go!

Governor Long, personally represented by Milton Lasker and Gus D. Revol, gave the assurance that his administration were ready, to build at once, and whenever this side was ready, authoritatively armed, to meet in Louisiana and formulate of necessary plans and action would be forthwith coming.

It was also manifested at this meeting in Bay St. Louis that this side, too, is ready to go. Emilio Cue, president of the Board of Supervisors, and associate members have long ago gone on record as favoring the immediate building of this short-cut, and others present at the meeting, including Walter J. Gex, Sr., who clarified the legal status of things considerably, well stated their positions and willingness.

The fact is, sentiment for building the proposed short-cut road to connect New Orleans with the Bay-Waveland district of Mississippi Gulf Coast, is unanimous. It was evident at this meeting that every interest, every inclination and every desire is to enter upon the proposition at once and lose no further time, save that time only necessary for legal and proper procedure.

The Echo is satisfied, now that Governor Long has gone on record in the manner he did, that the road will be constructed without further unnecessary delay. We feel the meeting has brought the project to further fruition and that further assembly and deliberation will clear legal fog away and set in actual motion the machinery for action. Correlating facts, uniting purpose and unanimous action, coupled with that co-operation and understanding of the two states, so necessary, now brings the matter to that station where the French say done, but unaccomplished.

With Louisiana representatives bringing assurance from Governor Huey P. Long that "Louisiana will meet Mississippi at the state level with any type of road approved by federal highway aid commission as a short route from New Orleans to the Coast," with representatives of the Chamber of Commerce from Biloxi, Pass Christian and Bay St. Louis enthusiastic over securing some action in Mississippi, with the board of supervisors of Hancock and Harrison counties highly interested and with a large body of citizens as support, the project for building a shorter hard surfaced road connecting the Mississippi Coast and New Orleans took on added impetus Thursday in the conference held at the courthouse in Bay St. Louis which was attended by about 100 road advocates.

This meeting was called by the Bay St. Louis Chamber of Commerce at the request of the Biloxi Chamber of Commerce which has been working on the plan for several months and a preliminary meeting has already been held in Biloxi. The meeting elected as chairman, George R. Rea, president of the Bay St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, and as secretary, Anthony V. Ragusa, managing director of the Biloxi Chamber of Commerce.

Plan Suggested
Although the meeting was informal and unofficial it seemed it was conducive to a plan whereby it was believed that something definite in a program of procedure may be effected.

A resolution calling for the naming by the chairman, George R. Rea, president of the Bay St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, of a committee, number to be determined by Mr. Rea, for the purpose of correlating all facts necessary for the construction of a highway connecting Louisiana and Mississippi and when the committee is ready to report to advise the New Orleans Association of Commerce which will arrange a meeting at which Louisiana officials will be present. Mr. Rea named as the personnel of this committee following the meeting the following: Emilio Cue, chairman; John B. Wheat, Joe P. Moran, F. Z. Goss, members of the Hancock county board of supervisors now in office, and the fifth supervisor from Beat 1 who is to be elected April 29, Leo W. Seal of Bay St. Louis, E. J. Adam, Sr., of Pass Christian, president of the Harrison County board of supervisors, Lieutenant Governor Bidwell Adam of Pass Christian, Mayor John J. Kennedy of Biloxi, Walter J. Gex, Sr., of Bay St. Louis, and Mr. Rea will serve as ex-officio member of the committee.

Long Backs Project
Gus D. Revol and Milton Lasker of New Orleans were Governor Long's representatives and bore a letter from him which stated: "This is to introduce Mr. Gus D. Revol and Mr. M. Lasker, and committee with them, whom I have instructed and authorized to represent me tentatively in undertaking to map out a short route to the Mississippi Coast from New Orleans, which my administration favors."

"After preliminary discussions have taken place with the authorities who have the power to act, it would be best, that we should all meet here in New Orleans."

Mr. Lasker speaking as Governor Long's representative and president of the New Orleans Young Men's Business Club and representative of the New Orleans Association of Commerce, set the keynote of the meeting when he stated that "he wanted a good road, the shortest possible from the economic and engineering point of view," and that "quick action" in getting something done about its construction should be urged. "We want some scheme where something can be done before June," he said. Mr. Revol suggested that "we can build this road if we work faster than we have before."

R. I. Raymond, secretary of the good roads bureau of the New Orleans Association of Chamber of Commerce, discussed the possible routes which have been surveyed and John C. DeArmas of Bay St. Louis, engineer, presented maps showing possible routes. The consensus seemed to be that the route from the natural highway department would be the most feasible.

FATHER FAHEY AT DELISLE DELIVERS PRACTICAL SERMON

A special correspondent writes in a late issue of the Pass Christian Tarpon:

"Before a large audience Rev. Father Leo Fahey delivered in a masterly way a very practical sermon in which he proved that the love of God is inseparably united to the love of our neighbor. This is why Holy Scripture speaks of one commandment of charity: 'If any man says I love God, and hateth his brother, he is a liar.' 1 John iv:20. Our love of our neighbor is therefore the best test of our love of God. He who cherishes ill will toward his fellowman, who hates him, envies him, injures him in any way, or who grudges him the love of God, the greater our love of God, the greater will be our love for our neighbor."

"The Rev. Leo Fahey of Bay St. Louis, is one of the most brilliant young priests of Mississippi. He won the highest records at all times while in training for the Holy work of God's church. His preliminary education was at St. Stanislaus College in his native city of Bay St. Louis, where he ranked so highly. Then at St. Benedict, (La.) St. Louis, he continued his education at the center of Christendom-Rome. Father Fahey is an able and clear minded speaker, and attractive."

"His sermons at Delisle was list-

Unusual Honeysuckle

An unusually interesting honeysuckle vine is growing on the porch of the home of Mrs. N. Burg of 109 Union street. This is of the French variety. It has the appearance of something of a cross between the woodbine and the ordinary American honeysuckle, as far as the leaves are concerned as some of them grow alternately and others in a whirl of three and four leaves about an axis. The blossoms are distinctive with their coloring of rose that tends toward a lavender tint and the individual flowers which are trumpet shaped as are the well known honeysuckles are creamish white in tone with deep yellow stamens. The large vine is in full flower just now and perfumes the atmosphere about the home.

ened to with close observance by all who wish to hear him more often."

It affords The Echo pleasure to reproduce the above deserved tribute to the brilliant, eloquent and much loved young priest. During the brief time that elapsed since his ordination, Father Fahey has won the love and admiration of every one in this parish by his zeal in and devotion to the high calling to which he has dedicated his life. All Bay St. Louis people—Catholics and non-Catholics as well—are proud that we can claim Father Fahey as a native-born product—one that reflects credit and honor upon the city of his nativity and upon the great religious denomination of which he is a priestly representative.

MAY ABOLISH STATION

Notice has been received that the L. & N. Railroad Company has petitioned the commission to be allowed to discontinue and close its station at Orange Grove, Jackson county, and to substitute a caretaker for an agent, giving as a reason that the revenue derived from this agency is not sufficient to justify the maintaining of an agency, and that a caretaker can equally as well serve the public and comply with all needs and requirements.

The petition will come on for hearing before the Railroad Commission at its May meeting to be held in Jackson on May 6, where all parties at interest may appear and be heard regarding the matter.

SLIDELL BANK BUYS SITE

One of the most significant realty deals of many months was closed last week when the Bank of Slidell purchased a lot with 62-foot frontage on Slidell's Front street from the Brugier Realty and Investment Company. The plot of ground adjoins the Neuhauer building on the north side and is almost directly across from the Southern railway station.

T. J. Eddins, president of the bank, who negotiated the deal, said he was not in a position to disclose the consideration paid for the property. Asked if the bank would build on the site, Mr. Eddins said the bank had no definite plan as yet, but purchased the lot in anticipation of future development and as an investment.

WORK BEGINS ON LONG BEACH PIER

Work began this week on the municipal pier at Long Beach which the town of Long Beach approved some time ago. The pier will be located at the foot of Cleveland avenue and will extend between 400 and 500 feet in the waters of the Mississippi Sound, stopping just short of the channel that parallels the beach line. The pier is town owned and is being built for the use not only of residents who do not reside on the beach but for tourist enjoyment. It will offer a means of reaching good swimming waters and will furnish a place where small boats can be secured. Harold Campbell of Long Beach has the contract for erecting the pier. Creosote pilings which will be used in the construction have been hauled to the grounds and work has begun actively on the pier.

Consistent

"Next week!"
"Yeah, but that's what you tol' me last week."
"Uh-huh, and that's what I'm going to tell you next week, cause I'm not a man that says one thing one week and sumthin' else the next."

ASSISTING LOCAL CENSUS TAKING

A letter from John R. Tally, district supervisor of S. census enumeration work, is to the effect that any one or more persons who by some circumstance or other inadvertence have been omitted from the local enumeration, to at once communicate with any of the local enumerators and have their names listed.

A great deal for the future depends on the enumeration and success of the final total. Our representation in Congress and in so many other considerations are frequently based on census. Then let it be within the power of all who can and will to assist in this work. Voluntary assistance will mean so much.

Singular Automobile Accident

Mr. Lizana was the one sustaining more bodily injury and his car suffered the most. All cars carried insurance. The affair was one of the incidents of the thousands of cars that thronged the beach boulevard for the Easter week-end.

VISITING PIANIST GIVES MUSICAL

A group of friends were permitted a rare privilege Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. Prather McDonald of Nyack-on-Hudson, New York, who is spending some time at Bay St. Louis, played at a musical at the home of Mrs. S. D. Siler, of North Beach Boulevard at Nicholson avenue, who entertained in compliment to the visitor. Mrs. McDonald is a pianist of rare charm and ability and her brilliant performance was happily greeted by the music lovers present. She has studied in New York under Ernest Hutchinson and has studied in Berlin under the German masters and is artistic in an unusual sense. She played a number of the classics some of the more modern compositions and gave some of her own compositions.

Three local musicians assisted at the program. Mrs. H. C. Glover singing a solo, Mrs. Glover and Miss Evaline Lacoste rendering a duet and Mrs. Winfield Partridge accompanying the vocal numbers.

Mrs. Siler presented bouquets of spring flowers to the musicians. A dainty ice course was served during the afternoon. Those present were: Mesdames Prather McDonald, H. C. Glover, Winfield Partridge, W. A. McDonald, C. C. McDonald, C. M. Shipp, C. C. Clark, James A. Evans, George R. Rea, Jos. Bernard, Donald Marshall, Elba Bouslog, E. J. Lacoste, E. S. Drake, Herry Osinich, and Miss Evaline Lacoste.

MANY BEAUTIFUL FLOWERS

Mrs. Octave Fayard, whose attractive home in Main street sets in one of the most attractive gardens of the city, thoughtfully sends The Echo beautiful sweet pea blossoms and giant poppies of the double variety and of multi color, also snap dragons, making in all a gorgeous collection of flowers.

The earliest nasturtiums hereabouts recently were sent to The Echo office, big blossoms in great profusion, from the garden of Mrs. Johnson, 103 Union street.

Mrs. John D. Mollere in Dunbar avenue has the most gorgeous roses in red and white, particularly the White American Beauty. For this section we have never seen buds of such gigantic size. Mr. and Mrs. Mollere cultivate roses to a high degree of perfection and demonstrate possibilities in rose cultivation on the coast.

GIFT OF FLOWERS

The Echo is indebted to Mrs. Octave Fayard of Main street for the gift of some lovely rose colored poppies and sweet peas which grew in her flower garden. Here each year Mrs. Fayard grows handsome poppies, preserving the seed from her own plants and growing them another season. Just now the purple larkspur vie with the poppies in her garden in gorgeous array.

ERROR IN NAME

In the story in last week's Echo telling of the beautiful flowers which grow in the yards in Leonhard avenue a description was given of the garden at the A. Adams home but in the story through a typographical error the name was given as A. de Armas. The Adams' garden have some of the finest roses seen in this section.

HANDSOME ROSE BUD

J. M. Sherman who resides on the beach just east of Henderson Point, and whose garden is one of the show places of the Coast area, presented to The Echo a large perfect rose bud Saturday. This flower was from the popular Frau Von Druski, sometimes known as the White American beauty.

Posts At Court House
